Getting your hand caught in a trap might sound painful, but the smile on Andrew Veale's face says quite the opposite. Bob Gator, a Conservation Officer with the Ministry of Natural Resources, trapped Andrew with a soft leghold trap during a demonstration last Friday at Archie Stouffer Elementary. Gator explained that, in spite of many claims to the contrary, trapping can be done without causing undue pain to the animals. The demonstration was part of National Wildlife Week.

Stanhope balks at arena fee

Stanhope Township will be making a contribution to the Minden Arena, but not as high a contribution as Anson, Hindon and Minden had requested.

Each year, the Minden arena operates at a deficit. And each year, surrounding municipalities are asked to make a contribution based on the number of people using the arena to offset this deficit. However, this year the per capita deficit has increased by 300 per cent and Stanhope Council is not willing to meet that increase.

Last year there were ten children from Stanhope Township participating in sports at the Minden arena. The per capita charge that year was $25 bring the total cost to the municipality to $250.

This year, however, there were 20 Stanhope Township children using the arena and the per capital charge was increased to $100. Stanhope Township was asked to give a total of $2000 this year.

"When they jump from $25 to $100 its getting a little bit ridiculous," said

Fire charge up 25%

Although Anson, Hindon and Minden council is doubling the rates it charges other municipalities for fire service this year, Stanhope Council is increasing its fee by only 25 per cent.

At last Wednesday's meeting, Stanhope council increased by standby fee it charges Anson, Hindon and Minden by $500, bringing the annual fee up to $2,500.

Initially, Stanhope's fee was based on the fee that Minden charges Snowdon Township for fire coverage. Although Snowdon Township is being asked to pay $4,000 this year, Stanhope Council felt they could not justify overcharging Minden for a similar service.

Councillor Ann Barker noted that when Minden sees this small increase, council may adjust the rates it is charging. Snowdon and Lutterworth Townships. Both are facing a one hundred per cent increase this year.

Hospital awaits approval

Approval of the working drawings and tenders for the Haliburton Hospital expansion is expected by the end of the month, committee chairman Barb Dawson says.

The drawings and tenders were handed over to the Ministry of Health and the Fire Marshall for their approval at the end of March, and Dawson said she is not expecting any problems.

The fundraising drive for the construction of the addition to the hospital wound up a few months ago. Ministry approval is now all that is needed to get this project going.

Dawson said because of the relatively small size of this expansion, she is anticipating no problems.

Board hears parents' concerns over move

Moving kindergarten and grade one classes to the former Dollo's IGA is making the best of a very bad situation, about 150 parents were told during a public meeting at the school last Wednesday.

"It's nobody's first choice," said McKay Brydon, principal of Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Moving the students away from the main campus is far from ideal, but under the circumstances it is the best alternative, the gathering was told.

Rising enrolment at the Minden school has created a shortage of classroom space and the board of education has been turned down for any provincial funding for an addition of portables. The board had asked for Ministry of Education funding for a $2.5 million expansion of the school, but was turned down. A request for funding for the purchase of additional portables was also denied. As an alternative, the board began looking for rental accommodations and settled on the former IGA store on Bobcaygeon Road.

When the news leaked out that this was being considered, board members began receiving phone calls from concerned parents and decided that a public meeting should be called. The level of concern was evident as the school's gymnasium was filled almost to capacity for this meeting.

Although the vast majority of the crowd was there to oppose the move to the IGA, few viable alternatives were suggested during the lengthy question and answer period. One by one, people in the audience stood and voiced their concerns to the proposal. Safety, segregation, busing and playground space were among the concerns raised.

And while members of the head table listened to the concerns and answered questions, there was no getting around the fact that they believe this is the best alternative. Present at the head table were trustees Wendy Ladurantaye and Cheryl Murdoch. Education Director Stuart Baker, Business Administrator Jim Bradley and principal McKay Brydon.

There are two events that caused the overcrowding problem to arise, said Baker. The first is rising enrolment, which is expected to continue. The second is the ministry initiative to establish smaller classes.

The last addition to the school was built in 1971, after which Baker says enrolment began to decline. However, while this was happening, the ministry was introducing more special programs that used up the vacated space. Now enrolment is back on the rise, three classes are already housed in portables and there is still no room for more classes. Baker predicted that if the school continues to add portables there will soon be as many classes outside as in the main building.

The long-term goal is to get the ministry funding needed to build an addition. Baker said the school has not seen much provincial money since 1971, and is hoping it will be only two or three years before an addition can be built.

The reason the ministry is denying the school of the needed funding is that, in their eyes, there is no shortage of space. The

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events is based on readings taken at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset as compiled by Environment Canada.

There were four events during the last reporting period.

April 3 - 11 mm rain, 4.6 pH from Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and southern Ontario.

April 4 - 1 mm rain, 4.3 pH from North Carolina, Ohio, Michigan and southern Ontario.

- April 6, 2 mm rain, 3.4 pH, from Pennsylvania, New York and eastern Ontario.

- April 7, 9 mm rain, 3.9 pH, from New York, eastern Ontario and north-west Quebec.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Council concerned about charges

Reeve Harry Davis, Councillor Ann Barker suggested that the costs should be covered by fees to the players and not to taxpayers in general.

Since this charge is a voluntary contribution and there is no formal agreement, council concluded that it will not donate as much as was asked for. The amount of the contribution that will be made will not be decided until the 1988 budget is set.

Township administrator Gerald Bain will be writing Minden advising that Stanhope will make a voluntary donation at some time in 1988.

Stanhope council briefs

Stanhope Township Council met on April 13, and the following matters were addressed:

Sunday Shopping:

Council passed a resolution supporting the efforts of the Coalition against Open Sunday Shopping and will be relaying their opposition to Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins.

Responding to a letter from the coalition, councillor Jock Mavor said the provincial government seems bent on passing legislation despite all opposition. "I just find it astounding that they're not hearing what the people are saying on this," he said.

Administrator Gerald Bain said he had spoken with Eakins on this issue and was told that any legislation will not affect business operation in Haliburton County. Tourism areas will be able to operate as in the past, he said.

Keep it

Although Council understands the garbage crisis being faced by Metropolitan Toronto, it is not willing to help out by establishing a dump site here.

Toronto has been contacting every municipality within 300 km of its boundaries offering them the chance of setting up a landfill site as a form of local industry. It was noted that waste management has become a very serious problem across Ontario in a very short time.

Resident seeks motor ban from Mirror Lake

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council met on April 14 and addressed the following matters:

Boat ban

Anne McKay, a resident of Mirror Lake near Carnarvon brought council up to date on her efforts to have motorized boats banned on that lake. She told council that the Ministry of Natural Resources is willing to allow a bylaw that would prevent motorized boats from using the very small lake. However, she said the ministry is not willing to place the signs. A petition has been circulated to all the residents on the lake and has been signed by most. McKay said the OPP would be able to enforce the ban if it is approved and signs are erected.

hopes of having a service clubs sign installed on the highway.

Boyd said four of the five local clubs are in favour of having a new sign set up but the fifth has yet to decide.

The new sign replaced an older one and council is not willing to have the old one taken down without that club's permission.

Boyd will try to get unanimous support from all the clubs before the next council meeting. The new sign would be eight foot square and capable of displaying the crests of six clubs.

Waste management

Council gave its endorsement to a plan by County Council to carry out a waste management study of the county.

Deputy Reeve Bern Berry said the study is expected to take about three years to complete and will cost about $150,000.00.

Club signs

Maurice Boyd, representing the Minden Lions' Club, brought council up to date on his

Champions! The Haliburton Huskies Midget team has captured the All-Ontario championship in an exciting sixth game win in Glencoe. Erin Nicholls capped a hat-trick and the game for the Huskies with the go-ahead goal just 35 seconds before the end of the third period. The final score was Haliburton 6, Glencoe 5. Other marksmen for the Huskies, all with singles, included Jaro Cooper, Ted Paish and Scott Russell. Members of the All-Ontario Midget

However, council is not willing to accept Toronto's waste.

Council later voted in favour of giving its support to a plan by County Council to conduct a waste management study. This will investigate the possibility of setting up a county-wide waste management system.

Budget delays

Until Stanhope Council has its budget for 1988 completed, it is postponing decisions on a number of matters which came up at last Wednesday's meeting.

These include: a request for funding for the high school band trip to Calgary; a request for a donation to the District Senior Games; the planned purchase of a dedication plaque for the fire department's mini pumper; the decision whether or not to have a history of the township written; a donation to Anson;

Hindon and Minden for the costs in operation of the arena and a request from the fire department for approval of a steel building.

Road allowance

In a split vote, council refused to sell off a road allowance, which provides access to Halls Lake.

Reeve Harry Davis and councillor Jock Mavor argued in favour of selling off the lake access to Cherokee Resort. However, councillors Ann Barker, Jim Harrison and Elvin Johnson opposed the sale.

The road allowance crosses the resort property splitting it in two. Barker argued that the owners knew, or should have known of the situation when they bought the property.

Amalgamation

The bid by County Council to introduce discussion regarding amalgamation of municipipalities should first have been discussed by the county planning committee, Reeve Harry Davis advised Stanhope Council.

A notice of motion advising that this issue will be coming up for a vote at County Council was given at the last meeting. The proposal was to reduce the present 10 municipalities to five.

Until this has been discussed at a planning committee meeting there are too many questions to be answered. Davis told Stanhope council members.

editorial

The frustration of dealing with a provincial ministry designed to contradict itself is being felt by parents of children who may be asked to attend school at a former grocery store next September.

About 150 people turned out to a public meeting last week looking for answers to this ridiculous situation and venting their frustrations on board members and employees. Extra class rooms are needed at Archie Stouffer Elementary School, but the board can not provide them without hitting the local taxpayers with 100 per cent of the bill. Customarily, the ministry provides a large percentage of funding for capital projects, but because of an antiquated formula for determining space needs, it has been determined that there is more than enough room for all the students.

It's all a big contradiction and we are being asked to accept it. Governments and bureaucracies act in strange ways and the world is expected to stand back and accept their idiosyncracies.

The problems now being faced in Minden are caused by this illogical ministry and the only solution is to speak out and let them, our MPP John Eakins and Premier David Peterson know that we are not about to put up with it.

The students need and deserve a proper environment in which to learn. This does not mean portables or the rental of an old grocery store. A permanent addition is what is needed to house what appears to be a steadily growing student population.

At every turn, we are confronted with more problems created by illogical ministry policy.

In the meantime, though, we are stuck with a minimum of one or two years of compromise. The choice appears to be between renting the former IGA or renting or buying portables. But even that choice will very likely be eliminated. Judging by the amount of opposition to the rental of the IGA building, a bid to rezone that property is bound to be met with opposition and delays. Despite all efforts, it would appear that more portables will be cropping up on the school grounds this year.

Asking the right question

*They said you was high class
That was just a lie...*

I don't think one columnist is supposed to say this about another columnist, but I'm kinda fond of Jeff Greenfield. Jeff's an American who scribbles political pensees for a number of newspapers on both sides of the border. I like him because he's come up with the only original idea I've heard in that whole annoying third-rate road show known as the U.S. Presidential Primaries.

Greenfield finds the Primaries annoying too - not to mention trite, predictable, shallow and banal. But he doesn't blame the campaigners. He thinks they're just not being asked the right questions.

Better, he says, we should ask them questions like:

- * When did you last lose your temper - and why?
- * What do you most regret doing in your life?
- * What has most impressed you about one of your

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

opponents?

Pretty good questions alright, and it would be fun to watch the slow rise of panic in the eyes of a Bush or a Dakakis as he tried to juggle with them. But Greenfield issued one other challenge that was so provocative it drove the thought of stumbling politicians right out of my mind. "Name three songs" wrote Greenfield, "that compel you to stop and listen no matter where you are or what you are doing."

That's easy, I thought to myself. God Bless The Child by Billy Holiday. Can't Find My Way Home by Ellen McIlwaine and, and...

Oh, for crying out loud - You Ain't Nothin But A Hound Dog.

It's true though. The moment someone cranks up that ancient, tinny-sounding, primitively recorded early Elvis number I will put down the coffee cup, park the car, stop the conversation - do whatever it takes to hear those simple-minded lyrics one more time.

I know why too. It's because the song was an underground classic in my day. This was back just after the discovery of fire and the invention of the wheel, when parents regarded Rock and Roll the way we feel about child pornography. As for practitioners of the evil craft - faugh! My parents would have sooner taken tea with Kaddafi and Bible Study with the Ayatollah than let swivel-hipping, guitar-twanging perverts like Elvis and Chuck Berry into our lives.

No to move

Editor:

I agree with the Hartwicks on their view of the relocation of the Kindergartens and the Grade One classes.

I have always liked the location of our school because it is far enough away from the busy streets of town, and I am enraged that they are thinking of putting our kids right smack dab in the middle of town.

Where will the kids play? It's not a very big yard. There is a swamp in the back and a busy street at the front. Sure the swamp can be filled for more play area but look how much money that will cost.

There is also a question about staffing. There will have to be extra staffing for this place. I wouldn't want to have to read in the paper that a five or six-year old got hit by a car because there wasn't enough staff to keep all of those kids in the yard.

My own child will be in Grade one next year and I don't want him on the main street. I think a better solution should be found.

Thank you.

Thank you for your help

Editor:

It has been two years since my wife had a heart transplant and it has also been two years since we made application for a disability pension on her behalf. It has just been recently that we heard from the Health and Welfare of Canada that a decision has been made concerning the application we had filed. They have finally decided to approve her as being fully disabled as required by law.

We feel that this decision would not have been made if it were not for the hard work, dedication and concern of Mr. Bill Scott, MP, his secretary Judy and our accountant Mr. Peter Wellstood. After many appeals, letters and phone calls on our behalf, Mr. Scott has made it possible for Colette to receive what she justly deserves. This is why we felt that a letter publicly telling the community of Minden that we couldn't ask for a better person representing us as our M.P. that Mr. Bill Scott.

Again on behalf of Colette and I, we thank you again Mr. Scott for the concern and time that you put into our problems.

Plan July 1 celebration now

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Canada Day is a special celebration to involve your whole community and that includes the private sector. Total community involvement is especially important if you want to establish a tradition of celebrating Canada Day. Through your provincial Canada Day Committee office, community groups can apply for a grant. These grants are based on the principle that such funding serves as "seed money" - money to provide start-up costs. It is not intended to be 100 per cent funding. Additional funding for Canada Day events must be obtained by each community through active solicitation. If you want your events to be successful, you should start now to develop a network of sponsors - businesses that can donate goods and services, and co-operate in special Canada Day promotions.

There is no limit to the imagination when it comes to organizing Canada Day celebrations. Following are a number of suggestions for local celebrations that can be implemented in your community. They are designed to help you think of ideas, prepare for programs and to spark local community participation in Canada Day celebrations.

Hold a Canada Day Bike-a-Thon or a Bike/Trike Rodeo in a shopping plaza. Donate the proceeds to a local charity.

Arrange a Track and Field Day at a nearby park or school.

Have a Flag Raising Ceremony.

Hold an Antique Car

Display.

Hold a Water Craft Race or a Log-sawing Contest.

Draw up a special Canada Day Certificate honouring the oldest member of your community.

Draw up a special Canada Day Certificate honouring everyone in your community who was born on Canada's birthday.

Arrange, through your friends or service group, to Adopt-a-Granny or Grandpa from a local senior citizens or group retirement home. Spend that day with that person and get him or her involved in the day's community activities.

Have a Clean-City Sweep through the streets, parks and plazas in your community.

Have a Mass Fireworks Exhibition.

Re-enact an old Canadian Working Bee.

Hold a Canada Day Balloon Race or other contests of a similar nature.

Hold a Barn-dance in a barn, school auditorium or recreational facility.

Arrange for a Hayride and Marhsmallow Roast.

Hold a Community Painting Contest, a Paint-in of local Canadian landscapes or landmarks for amateurs and professionals alike.

Have the Boy Scouts or Brownies Plant a Tree.

Have a Canada Day Parade.

Engage summer school students in writing One-Page Compositions on Canada.

Develop Lifesize Card-board Images of important historical figures - especially those who played an important part in developing your community. Images have the face cut out, so community members may be photographed as the historical figure of their choice.

There are many benefits for you, your private sector sponsors, and the community at large. Businesses involved in Canada Day celebrations earn priceless goodwill. The organizers can learn a lot from working with professionals, and everyone enjoys the excitement of working toward a common goal. Canada Day events are a great way of fostering community pride and by John Eakins, M.P.P.

We've all read and heard a lot about AIDS - the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, which is of great concern to both the medical community and the general public.

In order to help fight back against this terrible disease, our government has just launched a two-year, $7-million advertising campaign. One way of reducing the number of AIDS cases in Ontario is to inform the general public about exactly what it is.

This unprecedented multi-media campaign is called "Let's Talk" and it is designed to reach 90 per cent of Ontarians. Province-wide television, radio, print media and transit ads, as well as toll-free hotlines, are planned to encourage the people of Ontario to inquire about this tragic disease.

The government's initiative was recently announced by my colleague, the Honourable Elinor Caplan, Minister of Health, who called AIDS a crippler of human potential. It strikes most of its victims in the prime of their lives.

An information brochure inviting people to call the AIDS hotline will soon reach every household in Ontario. This hotline is also available in French. Ontarians who speak French can call 563-2437 in the Ottawa area and, 1-800-267-SIDA from elsewhere in the Province. The English language hotline numbers are 392-AIDS for local Toronto calls, 563-2437 in Ottawa and, 1-800-668-AIDS for calls from the rest of the province.

AIDS has been described as one of the most important medical problems facing the world in the next few years. Hopefully, through continued research and through public education campaigns, like the one mentioned here, we can find the solution.

Adolescent evil and perfidy

But they came in anyway. If not though our televisions and radios then over the grapevine in the schoolyard and, inevitably, under the counter at the local record shop.

I remember when I first laid eyes on a .45 recording of Hound Dog (You ain't nothing but a.) by Elvis Presley. My pal Tommy Farmer bought it with his paper route money and smuggled it home in a plain brown paper bag. Tommy was the guy who led us all onto the paths of adolescent evil and perfidy, such as they were - smoking punkweed, manhunting each other with peashooters, writing graffiti on the school walls after dark. It was fitting that Tommy Farmer should be the one to introduce us to rock and roll.

There were three or four of us, all pre-pubescent, all keening to hear we knew not what. But it wasn't easy. We needed to get the record player to ourselves, away from adult ears.

Finally the magic day arrived. Tommy's mother was out of earshot, working in the garden, his father had disappeared for the afternoon. Like thieves we sneaked into the Farmer rec room, lifted the lid on the old Motorola Hi Fi, threaded the record onto the spindle, dropped the stylus down and cranked the volume knob as far to starboard as it would go.

If what happened next were to happen to me today, I would probably call the cops, my MP and possibly Amnesty International. The music was so loud you could feel it through your shoes. Conversation was out of the question. We nodded at each other and grinned. We slapped our thighs to the beat. It was glorious.

Well, to us it was. It was less glorious to Mister Farmer, who, it turns out, had been catching an afternoon nap in the bedroom directly above the Hi Fi.

He appeared at the rec room door like Zeus coming down from Olympus. He asked, not kindly, just what the hell that ungodly noise was.

And that's when I learned the most delicious secret of rock and roll: that it was Not For Parents. For the first time in my life I had something that was exhilarating, captivating and utterly unresponsive to adult supervision. Control? Adults couldn't even understand it, much less throw a bridle on it!

Which is why to this day, the crash of those opening chords to Hound Dog can transport me back to Tommy Farmer's rec room of 30-odd years ago.

So that's how I would answer Jeff Greenfield's music question.

Now all I have to do is get myself a change of citizenship, a few campaign posters and I'm in the race for the Oval Office.

Hey, don't laugh. Against this year's competition, I just might win.

PineStone receives $2.5 million loan

PineStone Inn and Country Club, a full-service, five-star resort hotel, will benefit from a $2.5 million loan under the Canada-Ontario Tourism Development Agreement (COTDA).

The announcement was made last week by Bill Scott, MP for Victoria-Haliburton and by John Eakins MPP for Victoria-Haliburton.

The incentive loan will be used to assist the company in its $10.9 million expansion and improvement program.

The expansion will include a $2.5 million indoor leisure complex, a conference centre, 57 luxury units and a new computer system. Improvements will be made to the existing golf course, dining facilities, landscaping, sewer, water and power systems.

"This is a magnificent example of what can be accomplished by the partnership of the provincial and federal governments, helping to bridge the gap to enable the private sector to attain goals that will ultimately benefit the economy of the country as a whole," said Scott. "The enlargement of this facility coincides with the growing interest being shown in Canada by new visitors from the United States."

"This loan will ensure that PineStone Inn and Country Club will continue to be a leading tourism attraction in eastern Ontario," said Tourism Minister Hugh O'Neil. "The project will also allow the resort to attract more business meetings to the area with its new conference centre. This means increased economic benefits to the region."

As part of the loan agreement, the hotel will create 90 jobs by January 1, 1991; the public will have access to COTDA-funded recreation facilities at the hotel; and facilities will be accessible to physically challenged persons.

The Canada-Ontario Tourism Development Agreement provides assistance toward the development of internationally competitive year-round tourism facilities in the province.

Wren Blair, on behalf of PineStone, negotiated totally with both the federal and provincial people the COTDA loan beginning late in August of 1985. Mr. Blair said: "It has been a long process for to reverse its decision regarding the supply of taxi service to local seniors facilities.

At the previous council meeting, a resolution was passed to discontinue the service. Council has since heard complaints and was asked that the service be extended at least until the Bobcaygeon Road reconstruction project was completed. Council decided to stick with its original resolution to discontinue the service.

Donations

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Senior Band is closer to reaching its goal after townships council agreed to donate $500 for the trip to Calgary to compete in the National Stage Band Festival.

A request for a donation to the District Senior Games was not met with the same generosity however. Council was of the opinion that the competitors in these games should be able to pay their own way without asking for donations.

Staffing

Joe Dollo Jr., has been appointed the new Deputy Fire Chief for the Anson, Hindon and Minden Fire Department. He will be replacing Bob Wells, who announced his resignation about two weeks ago.

Brian Sisson the present arena manager, will be offered the job of Parks Manager. The Parks Committee recently completed interviews and recommended the position to be offered to Sisson, who has not yet accepted the new job.

The Move Is On

Ministry has not followed through ministry is responsible for the real shortage in encouraging smaller class sizes, but has not followed through with any funding to make this possible. Although the ministry encourages class sizes of 20, when it comes to determining space needs, the formula must be based on a class of 35.

The ministry says there is room at the school for more than 600 students. However, in reality, the school is overcrowded at only 500.

The problem with installing more portable class rooms is that it will make funding for an addition even more unlikely. Each time a portable is added, the ministry looks at the situation and adds another 35 students to the school's capacity. Therefore, it works against the long-term goal of the board and community.

With this in mind, Minden resident Verne Graham suggested that the board forget about ministry funding and go ahead and finance the addition on its own. He noted that rent on the former IGA building will cost the board $25,000 per year and estimated that renovations to make it suitable for classes will cost an additional $300,000.

"I see nothing but a lot of money being spent to provide a temporary facility," said Graham. "Let's get on with the job, borrow the money and let's get the school built," he said.

Baker responded to this suggestion, saying "To fund it as 100 per cent is not the proper approach, in my opinion." He said the ministry normally pays 50 to 60 per cent for capital work. Local taxpayers would be required to cover that amount if the ministry did not. Baker also questioned Graham's estimate for renovation costs, saying it will much less than $300,000.

The amount of busing and safety were two of the main concerns raised. One parent said her child would be required to get on and off a bus eight times in one day if students need to be shuttled to another facility. Others complained of the amount of time already spent on the buses.

"It is not nearly ideal," Baker admitted. He said the need to set up a shuttle bus is just one of the downfalls of these "stopgap measures."

"It's nobody's first choice," Brydon repeated. And a member of the audience agreed: "This is a bad situation and we have to make the best of it. It's up to us as parents to make the best of it."

However, not all parents were sold. Minden resident Sandy Hartwick strongly objected to the board spending money on temporary accommodations. She insisted that the rent be put toward something permanent. "I don't want my children going down there and I don't want my money going in there," she said.

Another parent submitted a poll, which he said, was taken by his child, of students in grades four to eight at the school. More than 170 students signed the poll, which objects to separating the two grades from the rest of the school. He said this shows there are at least 150 families that feel the best alternative is portables.

One concern, which Brydon described as the one of the most legitimate expressed at the meeting, was the degree of safety that can be ensured while students transfer on to the shuttle bus at the school. There are at least 12 buses arriving at the school at about the same time in the morning. Students would be transferring on to the shuttle bus while these buses are coming and going through the lot.

Brydon said this is a concern. He said it would be his intention to double or triple the number of teachers on bus duty to make sure things are safe.

In closing the meeting, Baker drew the audience's attention to the irony of the situation being experienced in Minden and Haliburton. While parents in Haliburton are objecting to the planned closure of the small Victoria Street School, parents here are objecting to opening a small school.

Although the former IGA appears to be the most likely alternative at this point, it is far from being settled. The property is presently zoned for commercial use and would have to be rezoned to institutional before it could be used as a school.

Next September, Kindergarten and Grade One students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School may be required to spend their days at the former IGA store where renovations are already being carried out by the owner. Since there is no funding for an addition, the only other alternative is to have yet more portables.

Publicity and good preparation are the keys to success, so start now. It's never too early to begin planning for Canada Day. When you plan an event, you should have a good idea of what it will cost. Always try to make good investments. Think of past events - which were successful and which were not.

Every Canada Day celebration is dependent upon volunteers. They can be found in every walk of life and every community in Canada. They offer diverse and invaluable skills and ideas that will help make the celebration a success. You may be surprised to find hidden talents among your neighbours. With careful planning, energy and enthusiasm, you can turn those talents to good use, and have a terrific time on Canada Day.

Each year the volunteer members of the 12 Canada Day committees freely donate their time and skills in assisting community groups, businesses and municipal and provincial governments to co-ordinate local celebrations. These individuals would be pleased to offer advice and assistance in the planning and organizing of events, provide application forms, as well as respond to any questions or concerns that you may have. The Ontario Canada Day Committee can be reached at 25 St. Clair Ave. East, Toronto, Ont. M4T 1M2.

Cottages damaged by vandals

During the week of April 4 to 10, officers of the Minden detachment investigated 53 general occurrences and six traffic accidents with two persons injured.

Domestic

Kenneth Dennis Carnochan age 59 of Gooderham has been charged with wilful damage and breach of probation after police were called to a domestic complaint Friday April 8 in the early afternoon.

Carnochan will appear in Provincial Court in Minden on May 4. The investigating officer was Constable Bill Clendenning.

Thefts around the county

From PineStone Inn and Country Club - 7 bath towels, face cloths, hand towels colour jade.

Boundary Road Luttherworth Township - .303 Lee Enfield rifle, 12 gauge pump shot, 16 gauge shot gun Remington Pump, Stevens .22-410 over under combination, .22 pump rifle.

Harburn Road - Classic VCR, am/fm radio cassette, flashlight. Camp Kandalore - am/fm radio cassette "Sound Barrier". Haliburton - BMX bike blue/white.

Stolen auto

A 1979 Chrysler Cordoba stolen from the Beaconbrook hotel during the evening of April 8. The car which was left in the lot with the keys in the ignition, was driven north where it was involved in a single car accident.

Police have no suspects at this time.

Constable Brad Burkholder is the investigating officer.

Cottage break and enters

On Saturday April 9, several cottages were found broken into on Bob Lake in Anson Township. Entry was gained by shooting off the locks. A total of ten cottages were found entered and in all cottages there was damage done inside by firearms. While investigating the occurrences, Constable B.J. Connelly located two persons, who were arrested. The firearms, 2 rifles and 2 shotguns were stolen from one of the cottages.

Nathon Paishk Krebs age 19 of Toronto and a young offender were kept in custody for a bail hearing April 11 in Lindsay.

Both accused were charged with break, enter and theft, possession of weapons dangerous to public peace, theft and wilful damage.

Car accident

David Shaw, 17, of Minden area, was injured along with his passenger when the vehicle he was operating went off highway 35 south of Ox Narrows late Saturday, April 9 and collided with a rock cut. Both were taken to Minden hospital. Shaw has been charged with operation a vehicle with no insurance.

Constable Ron Buchanan investigated.

I thank all of these people and many others for their help, input and understanding, especially Mr. Bill Scott, Federal Member of Parliament for Victoria-Haliburton, the Honourable John Eakins, Provincial Member of Parliament for Victoria-Haliburton and the former Minister of Tourism and now Minister of Municipal Affairs, the Honourable Hugh O'Neill, the current Minister of Tourism, Mr. Murray Fearrey, Reeve of Dysart Township, and all their staffs."

Mr. Blair outlined how the more than ten million dollars funding will take place over the three years. $2.5 million will be provided by federal and provincial government assistance administered by COTDA and a matching amount will come from the investors at PineStone in the form of equity financing and long term shareholder loans. The remaining $5 million will come from conventional bank financing. The project is already well underway and moves PineStone into the foreground as one of the premier resort hotels in all Canada.

Gallery show features three artists, three media

The Agnes Jamieson Gallery is presenting a display of art by three Shelburne area artists which delves into three distinct media: water-colour, photography and ceramic murals.

The display, featuring the work of Kai-Liis McInnes, Peter Herlihy and Gary Tincknell opened on April 9 and will be running until April 23 at the gallery. Although these three artists do not normally show their crafts together, the variations in media provide a very interesting and attractive display.

McInnes has won several awards for her watercolour paintings. Her watercolours are very loose, wet-in-wet, emphasizing the colour and shapes of the countryside around her. She also does house portraits (from photographs) in water-colour and pen and ink.

Herlihy is the photographer in the group. However, he does much more than take pictures. With his camera, he is able to capture the subtleties of nature that are often overlooked. He has the knack of finding art in his surroundings and recording it on film. His real love is to make images which will communicate and share his enjoyment of the visual environment.

After a pause of almost eight years, Gary Tincknell is actively returning to ceramic and sculptures. He began making ceramic murals in 1973 when he was intrigued by Egyptian and pre-historic wall paintings and drawings. He had his first one-man show in 1974 and has since participated in numerous exhibitions. His last major show was in 1978 in the World Crafts Conference in Japan. And now he is returning, "anxious to express ideas and feelings that have been demanding a voice of their own."

Photographer Peter Herlihy and watercolour painter Kai-Liis McInnes take a short rest during the opening of their exhibit at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Along with Gary Tincknell, these two Shelburne area artists are having their works displayed at the gallery until April 23.

Owners stand firm on flood plain

Residents of Minden Village and Lutterworth Township whose property could be adversely affected by the flood plain zoning along the Gull River have adopted a wait-and-see attitude. The group is waiting for an informational meeting, scheduled for May 17 when it is anticipated the Ministry of Natural Resources will present its final position on the zoning.

A group of over 60 residents, representing home owners, business operators, and owners of vacant riverside property met Saturday at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office. The meeting, chaired by Minden businessman Gord Monk, was called to air the concerns of the residents, determine what future action is to be taken, and ascertain the level of interest of those with property along the river. Mr. Monk said he was extremely pleased with the turn-out. He said the packed council chamber was a solid indication of the concern felt by the property owners.

The chairman had prepared copies of the same petition to be addressed to the two local levels of government as well as the provincial representative John Eakins and federal member Bill Scott, calling on them to use their influence to intervene and stop the drop in property values expected if the new zoning is enacted. The petition also seeks to have the existing water controls systems used to ensure the area is not subjected to flooding. The petitions call on the authorities to undertake a dredging program to increase the flow of water through the affected areas.

Virtually all of those in attendance signed the petitions, which will be forwarded to the politicians this week.

The chairman urged the property owners to write to their representatives on a personal basis to further indicate their concern with the situation. "Let's make sure the message gets through," he told the meeting.

Mr. Monk described the recently announced redrafting of the flood plain lines in Minden as a "band-aid" solution, and not a cure for the problem. However, one member of the audience pointed out, if the authorities had already back-tracked, by redrafting the flood lines, they must be uncertain as to the quality of information they are working with. "If they had a strong case for the flood plain, why would they change their minds now? It is just another case of the government making arbitrary decisions," the speaker suggested.

Others in the audience voiced similar concerns over the accuracy of information on which the flood plain zones were based. Cases were cited where two adjacent blocks of land, with identical elevations, were on opposite sides of the flood designation line. Questions were raised over the accuracy of the mapping and the seeming lack of supporting information.

One speaker noted the provincial government introduced flood plain restrictions to protect itself from the possibility of paying out compensation to those whose properties were damaged. However, it was pointed out, the action devalues the property in question and renders vacant land virtually without resale value, because of a total ban on construction. It was pointed out the government has refused to accept, as an alternative, a release from claim from property owners in a potential flood zone.

It was also pointed out that areas of southern Ontario which were once considered flood zones have been removed from that designation after control dams were built upstream. "We already have dams in place, and they should be used for that purpose," she commented.

It was suggested that since the two senior levels of government have been on opposite sides of the political fence for many years, "...there may not be sufficient liaison between them."

Finally, the speaker suggested the area would be more suitable for a tornado zone, than a flood zone, since high winds have done more damage in the region than was ever caused by flooding.

Mr. Monk offered congratulations to the Lutterworth council for their stand in refusing to incorporate the flood zone into their zoning by-law. When he asked the two members of the Minden council who were present, Deputy Reeve Bern Berry and Councillor

Vern Graham, if their council would back the efforts of the group, both provided non-committal answers. Mr. Berry said he endorsed citizen action committees, and wished the group well, but could not speak on behalf of the council. Mr. Graham said he was attending the meeting as a owner of property in the proposed zone.

The frustrations felt by the property owners seemed to be summed up by Minden resident Stan Blears. He lives in one of the oldest structures in the county, the Clergy House on the banks of the Gull River. "My house has been there for 135 years," he told the meeting, "and I think it will be there long after I am gone." Another member of the audience suggested the fact the historic structure has stood there for so long and not suffered from flood damage should provide ample indication of just how serious the flooding problem has, or will, be.

The group will now await the informational meeting planned for May 17 before deciding whether to take further action.

Seventieth anniversary Camp plans celebration

Onondaga, one of the oldest summer camps in the Canadian camping community, invites all old campers, staff and friends to return to the camp in Minden, Ontario and celebrate its 70th Anniversary.

The reunion will bring together several generations of alumni from all over North America and beyond. Old campers and staff members share in a diverse history of achievements at Onondaga, from the arts to wilderness camping.

Some 30 years ago, the Little Theatre staged the first full production of the musical "Oliver!", months before the North American Broadway opening. During the Centennial of 1967, 40 Onondaga Camp canoes journeyed over 250 miles down the Ottawa River to Expo '67, but not without mishap. One of the boats overturned right between the American and Soviet pavillions.

That same summer, an even luckier crew of our counsellors-in-training completed the first arctic canoe trip by a summer camp. They tackled the white water of the Thelon River over a 30-day expedition in the Northwest Territories. David Thompson, one of the young voyageurs on that trip, has returned many times since 1967 to paddle the Arctic's waterways. Last summer, David returned to the Thelon to proudly lead the Duke and Duchess of York down that challenging river on their famous whitewater canoe trip.

Other notables among Onondaga's pantheon of alumni include Finance Minister Michael Wilson, ABC News Anchorman Peter Jennings, actor-writer Mavor Moore, broadcaster Allan McFee, actor Nicholas Campbell and Justice Samuel D. Grange.

"We look forward to welcoming all of them and more at Reunion '88. They can join us for fun times and old times on the shores at Onondaga Camp on Labour Day Weekend, September 3 to September 5, 1988. If they can't make it then they won't want to miss our commemorative dinner scheduled this Fall on October 8 in Toronto."

For more information on Reunion '88 all Old Onondagans are urged to contact the Camp Administrative Director, Doug MacMillan, at our Toronto offices at 416-323-9090.

Gerri McCammond's Mississauga rink was the winner of the Kawartha Dairy trophy in the "Sweep into Spring" ladies bonspiel at the Minden Curling Club on March 9. Team members were Elaine Cooper, Marie Jacques, Sharon Munro and Gerri McCammond.

Gallery features a variety of exhibits

The Rails' End Gallery is looking forward to two very busy months with a wide variety of displays. These will include 'Young Expressions,' 'Through the windshield of a truck,' and 'Ivory and Horn.'

Young Expressions:

Student Art from Haliburton County

April 19 - April 26

Young Expressions is the annual show of student artwork sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts and the business community. This exhibit offers the community an excellent opportunity to observe the changing and developing skills, visions and talents of children and young people in kindergarten through to grade thirteen.

The opening reception and presentation of scholarship awards will be held on April 19th, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Irene McCaugherty

Through the windshield of a truck

April 30 - May 23

Irene McCaugherty's work reveals her close ties to the area where she has spent her life. Born in 1914 in the small coal mining town of Hardieville just north of Lethbridge, McCaugherty spent many years actively participating in the pioneering ranch life of southern Alberta. Her past has encompassed experiences from the homesteading of land on the Milk River Ridge with her parents to the development of a ranch in the Porcupine Hills where she and her husband spent the early years of their marriage.

In 1960 Irene McCaugherty began translating her memories into paintings, with watercolour and long, narrow strips of paper she was able to find a format which expressed the vast horizontal expanses of the prairie landscape and still contain the intimacy of her drawings portraying the activities of daily life. Her eye for detail and interest in the rituals of western living are evident in her work. A lack of formal training allowed McCaugherty to develop a personal style unaffected by academic concerns. Her images project a vitality and honesty that the viewer recognizes as authentic. They speak of the artist and her world in a language that is universal.

Irene McCaugherty now resides on the edge of Fort Macleod. In her studio overlooking the prairie, she continues to draw and paint. For her, it is a form of communication; for us it is an opportunity to rediscover ourselves. Whether a rodeo, an auction sale, a picnic, a round-up, or skating in winter, McCaugherty's depiction of simple

Eakins views northern flood

Minister of Municipal Affairs John Eakins was called away to view a severe flood north of Sault Ste. Marie over the weekend of April 9 and 10.

Eakins, MPP for Victoria-Haliburton, flew over the flood area Saturday morning in an OPP helicopter and inspected the damage. Vince Kerrio, Minister of Natural Resources and also made a helicopter tour.

The flood was caused by an ice jam on the Lower Coula River, located 45 miles north of Sault Ste Marie. The melting ice usually makes it way to Lake Superior, but this year a large collection of ice bottled up the flow.

It is estimated that about 100 dwellings were affected and about 45 people had to be evacuated, most by boat and some by helicopter.

Eakins spoke with several of the residents, volunteers, firemen and others who were involved in the flood. "The ministry staff, volunteer firefighters and others who got involved should really be congratulated for their tireless effort and dedication," said Eakins.

The residents in the area expressed their appreciation for the quick response by both Eakins and Kerrio.

pursuits mirrors a pleasure found in recalling scenes from her life in rural Alberta.

This exhibition is organized and circulated by the Southern Alberta Art Gallery in Lethbridge, Alberta.

Ivory and Horn

April 30 - May 2

Ivory and Horn brings together three Canadian artists who all share a passion for creating jewellery from the materials of ivory and antler. These substances have been appreciated and treasured throughout time. With today's ecological concerns, they are a controversial item that many admire yet avoid. Richard Marcus, Barry Rudachyk and Yves Baril have discovered ways to work with these materials without compromising their consciences.

Vancouver designer Richard Marcus works with the shattered fragments of mastodon ivory, a material more than 8,000 years old. Mastodon ivory is taken from the tusks of massive creatures who once roamed the plains about three million years ago, but whose existence ended with the Ice Age. The tusks, found in the Yukon as well as in Alaska and Siberia, range in colour from a creamy ivory to a rich brown. Each piece of jewellery or sculpture which Marcus creates is a mosaic. The small fragments of ivory are arranged into attractive shapes then inset with semi-precious stones such as lapis, lazuli, malachite, turquoise, amber, or sugilite, with the tiny remaining spaces filled in with gold dust. In addition, Marcus employs ebony and the richly coloured purple heart wood from Ghana. His sculptures and jewellery are smooth, sophisticated and very tactile.

Barry Rudachyk lives on the outskirts of the Algonquin Provincial Park in Ontario. Working with antler which has fallen naturally from the animal during the annual shed, Rudachyk carves detailed miniatures as well as fashioning jewellery.

His carving has been influenced by the netsuke, a school of Japanese carvers who created tiny works from tree roots and ivory. His style, however, is distinctly his own. Rather than force the material to take on a desired shape, Rudachyk tries to discover and release the carving he sees encased within the antler. Sculptures are carved to take advantage of the different coloured segments, lichen stains and flecks of minerals found on the antler. When completed, his sculptures are often no bigger than the top joint of a human thumb and rarely exceed a few inches in size. The subject of Rudachyk's miniatures may vary but all of his work demonstrates an intense attention to detail and an understanding of the medium.

Yves Baril practices a traditional technique of ivory carving often associated with 18th and 19th century sailors. With a few tools - usually only a knife or sometimes an adze - these sailors managed to cut, carve and incise whalebone, shark and whale teeth and walrus tusks during their long watches at sea. This type of ivory carving is known as scrimshaw though no one knows exactly why. Some folklorists suggest that the word may have come from the Dutch "scrimshander" which means a lazy fellow and would tie in with the fact that it was a leisure-time occupation. Yves Baril is a trained engraver, having studied in Montreal, Ottawa, New York and London, England. During the past thirty years, Baril has engraved 150 postage stamps for Canada Post and the United Nations as well as vignettes for bank notes, shares, bonds, passports and other high security documents. Baril combines this skill with his love of whaling history and Maritime legends to recapture a by-gone era on whale teeth found along Newfoundland's rugged coastline.

The public is invited to meet the artists at the opening reception on Saturday, April 30 from 2 until 4 p.m.

This is Citizenship week

April 17 - 23, 1988 has been designated as National Citizenship Week, and this year's theme centres on pride in our Canadian citizenship.

"We have so much of which to be proud - everything from our freedoms, rights and responsibilities to our opportunities, achievements, cultures and, above all, our citizenship," said David Crombie, Secretary of State.

Learning and activity materials will be made available during the week to elementary and high school students as well as community groups, clubs and associations. These have been prepared by the Department of the Secretary of State.

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney last year proclaimed the week of April 12 - 18 as the first National Citizenship Week; and that henceforth the week of April 17 will be celebrated annually.

The date was chosen to coincide with the anniversary of the proclamation of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms on April 17, 1982; the Charter embodies many of the basic principles, values and beliefs of Canadian citizenship.

Season of severe weather

The season of severe weather in Ontario has arrived, and the Ministry of the Solicitor General is taking steps to make people more aware of emergency procedures.

Each year, an average of 25 tornadoes touch down in Ontario. Some are minor and cause little damage, others such as the central Ontario tornado in 1985, are major and cause injuries and deaths.

Environment Canada issues weather watches and warnings when anticipated weather poses a threat to public safety. This information is relayed to the public by radio and television.

A severe weather watch is issued up to six hours in advance to alert the general public that, for a specified portion of Ontario, there is a high potential for dangerous thunderstorm weather, which may be accompanied by a tornado.

A severe weather warning is issued to alert the public that severe thunderstorms or tornadoes are imminent in the warning area - ie, a severe thunderstorm is in progress or expected to occur within two hours.

Tornado safety hints

A personal tornado awareness program should include:

- being aware of the weather, knowing the radio or television stations which broadcast up-to-the minute weather information.

- knowing the name by which Environment Canada refers to your forecast region when they issue weather forecasts.

- reviewing your plans of action

When a tornado threatens

1. Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.

2. For maximum safety, go down to the basement or seek shelter under a stairway or sturdy table, or in a closet.

3. Try to reach the centre of the house or the side away from the storm.

4. Avoid buildings with large areas of unsupported roof, including arenas, barns or supermarkets. If caught in such a building, seek out the lowest floor, an inside hallway or small interior windowless room, or get under something sturdy.

5. If caught in the open, try to determine the tornado's direction of travel and move at right angles to it. If you cannot avoid the storm, find a ditch, ravine or other depression and lie flat. Do not remain in your car. Many people have been killed trying to ride out a tornado in their car.

6. If no shelter can be found, hang on to the base of a small tree or shrub.

7. Remember that damaged and weakened structures, fallen debris, downed hydro wires, and gas leaks are potential dangers after a storm has passed.

Did you know?

by Doreen Hawman

In the event your home was burglarized, destroyed by fire or a disaster, could you remember all its contents when completing an insurance claim? An up to date inventory and photographs of your possessions could be invaluable to you at such a traumatic time.

Your insurance office or the nearest information centre will be happy to supply you with an inventory booklet which will greatly assist you with this task. After completing the booklet and taking the photos, be sure to store in a safe place such as your safety deposit box. You may never have to use these records but if you have the misfortune to, it will help ease the burden of compiling an inventory for the insurance adjuster.

To receive a copy of this handy booklet, or if you require help completing an application, or have a question that needs answering, contact the Haliburton County Information Centre, located in the Drag River Municipal Building Maple Ave., Haliburton. The centre is open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733.

If you are in the Minden area, the centre situated in the Municipal Building Milne Street is open every Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or you may call 286-4100.

To have your Income Tax Return prepared, contact your nearest information centre.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

When I let the cat out this morning, the sun on my face felt warm. As the earth tilts back toward the sun, warmth and light return to northern latitudes. Once again we have escaped from the prison of darkness and daylight brackets our working lives.

The lengthening days have already affected my garden. The snowdrops against the back wall have been out since the end of February, tiny white pendants of foliage which is often crisp from night frosts. Round, fat spears of chives have poked up enough for me to clip a handful for the salad. Soon I'll be able to drive a fork into the earth of the vegetable garden to release for the soup pot some of the row of leeks I left in the ground last fall.

Today the old willow behind the shed makes me forget what a nuisance its roots are, forever pushing through the asphalt in the driveway. It positively glows, its twigs as yellow as daffodils with the stirring sap.

Out along the edge of the ravine some colour is returning to the drab landscape. The red osier dogwood shows splendid scarlet twigs, and the buds of the suckers coming up around the basswood stump are brilliant red. Down the bank, the tangle of last year's wild raspberry canes, pliant and supple now, range in colour from orange to purple.

Along the north line of the valley where crusted snow still lies, the velvet buds of the pussy willow are great with the promise of foaming catkins. Above the crust, brown feathers of the fertile fronds of ostrich fern mark the spot where the fat green curls of fiddleheads will soon push through the black soil.

The oak leaves, finally loosened by new forming buds, have littered the cross-country ski track, creating a hazard for spring skiers. Only the beech clings longer to its burnt umber leaves.

By the stream bank the buds on the balsam poplar are swelling. I plucked a twig and inhaled the sweet fragrance of the buds. Soon the casings will be sticky and the air heady with their perfume.

In the maze of grapevine which still looks black and dead as though no power on earth could resurrect it. I startled a robin. Had it spent the winter in the shelter of the valley or had it recently arrived from Georgia or North Carolina? As I puffed up the bank toward home the persistent two-note spring call of the chickadee followed me.

WE'RE SEARCHING FOR A HEART OF GOLD

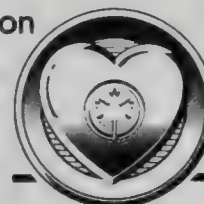

Selflessness. Willingness. Understanding. Qualities you may see in someone you know. Someone who goes out of his or her way to make your community a better place to live.

Air Canada, in partnership with your community newspaper, would like to salute these individuals who bring so much to your community. That's why we created Air Canada's "Heart of Gold" Award.

Now's the time to speak out on behalf of these individuals. Make your nomination for Air Canada's "Heart of Gold" Award today. It's time we all said thanks.

Complete the form below and include a note, or letter, giving the special reasons why you feel the person you're nominating makes your community a better place to live. Mail it to this newspaper care of Air Canada's "Heart of Gold" Award.

The York Royal Treatment

Heating and Air Conditioning fit for a king.

If York can bring comfort to Broughton Hall in York, England, imagine what we can do for your home. Because your home is your castle, we recommend a York Stellar 2000 heat pump, because heat pumps beat the others cold. They do it with remarkable air conditioning that cuts the summer heat. Then they cut your winter heating bills with super efficiency. A heat pump is the most energy efficient heating system available, beating all the others because it actually delivers more energy than it uses.

The York Royal Bonus.

Buy now and receive your choice of exquisite Waterford Crystal or a York Cash Rebate from $150. to $775. But act quickly as this is a limited time offer. Premium or amount is determined by equipment purchased.

You could win a trip to England.

Ask us for a Free Home Survey of your residential comfort needs and you could win a trip for two to England via British Airways and stay at the luxurious 5-star Royal Garden Hotel*.

On the hustings voices of hhss

by Katy Beach, Dianne Garbutt and Heather Donaldson

Move over Dukakis and Bush, the race to become American president pales in comparison to the election hype running throughout the halls of our high school. A "cabinet shuffle" is occurring within the S.A.C. and the list of our nominees include for the 1988-89 school year:

For president - Mark Robinson, Kim Hicks, Jason Cooper and Darren Warburton. For vice-president: Dianne Garbutt, David Emmerson and Jeff Francis. For secretary: Jeff Stamp, Darrin Parish. Social Convenor nominees include Steve Rowell, Stuart Mills and for Treasurer Gerald Morrison, Hannah Sennit and Sheldon Perry.

The walls, blackboards and even such places as the toilet seats have been plastered with a deluge of posters and campaign slogans. The election pandemonium shall undoubtedly be quelled on April 21 when the students go to the polls.

Archery club commenced April 12 and will run throughout the month of April until the first week of May when team selections will start. Mrs. Pizzezy is the coach offering the lure of 'chocolate bars' in order to add incentive to hit the bullseyes.

Girls' soccer is underway with the guidance of Miss Nottley and Mr. Flatman. The first game on April 21 will be away at Lindsay (LCVI) and Fenelon Falls. We wish them all luck.

The snow is barely gone and a trace of ice can still be detected on Head Lake and yet our school's track and field meet is only a week and a half away! On April 26 our classmates will compete in a number of events and the best of these will go on the Kawartha West meet afterwards. A certain number of students are required to sign up if we are to get any of the day off. So join in and sign up.

On Wednesday, April 13, our badminton teams travelled to Peterborough to compete in their first tournament of the year. We will post results next week.

Many grade 12 and 13 students are busy filling out applications for post-secondary education opportunities. In this age of 'higher education' the amount of students applying to universities or colleges is in the tens of thousands. We hope these students will be accepted and wish them luck.

Well, the April-May crunch is once again upon us and many essays await to be completed, so until next week...

Busy summer ahead

for your service

by Andy Poldas,
Kinsmen Club of Minden

Greetings from the Kinsmen Club of Minden and thanks to The Times for providing this space to keep the community informed about goings-on in our club.

Spring seems to bring a lull in the action while we bid farewell to winter and prepare for the rush of activity in the months ahead. We all remember, barely, a Winter Carnival rained upon, fun, but suffering from the "same old thing" syndrome. Community groups and individuals with new ideas are encouraged to bring them forth. Please bear in mind that nothing happens that isn't first figured out and organized by somebody and that many good ideas, received at first with enthusiasm, wither on the rock of reality when it's time for action.

Another successful Ice Racing season is over, and plenty has been written about that. Thanks again to Tom, Marg and Jack.

Local Kinsmen and Kinettes will be travelling to Lindsay on April 21 to meet and dine with other area Kin and our National President, Ron Hefler from Sackville, Nova Scotia.

Ride for Sight is returning to Minden on June 11, 1988. The Kinsmen will be running a new and improved Casino Night at the community centre from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The First Annual Minden Kinsmen Truck Pull will be held at the Minden Fairgrounds on July 2, 1988. We have a minimum of $2,000 prize money for the inaugural event, and look forward to lots of exciting action and heavy duty machinery. If you wish to enter and/or show your dump truck or 4 x 4, please contact Kin Keith Thomas at 489-3548.

Rose Barry helps in Honduras

Rose Barry of Haliburton recently returned from Tegucigalpa, Honduras having participated in a short-term medical group missions project sponsored by The Christian Medical Society. This project was devoted to medical, dental and surgical care.

She was part of a team of 91 participants, which included physicians, surgeons, dentists, nurses and other medically related personnel as well as a number of general support participants, who conducted the project. This was one of several visits planned by Medical Group Missions of The Christian Medical Society to third-world countries in 1988. A total of 8441 patients were seen. The surgery team did 103 surgeries and the dental team saw 575 patients and did 1730 extractions.

Participants on this project paid all their own expenses and contributed medical and surgical supplies to help supplement those donated by other organizations. During 1988 27 projects will go to such countries as Honduras, Jamaica, Belize, Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Nicaragua, the Philippines and Ecuador.

The Christian Medical Society, with headquarters in Richardson, Texas, is an association of Christian physicians and dentists who seek to witness their Christian faith in and through the medical and dental professions. Participation in MGM is open to any interested person.

Hi Kids!
Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.
It's as easy as that. Have fun!

senior league

by Pearl Lyle

Hello Readers:
Beautiful day and more to come.

Our service Sunday night was by Rev. J. Burgess and on Tuesday morning by Rev. Moll of the Minden United Church.

Our Thursday tea was brought in by the UCW of Carnarvon. It was lovely and much enjoyed by everyone.

Our movies were "Thousand Island Summer" and "Most Lovely Country".

Mrs. Buttery had a nice visit with a friend Cecile Richards of Tory Hill. Mr. Payne and his musical pals came Friday night. Sorry I missed them. We always enjoy them so much.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Brohm and son of Lindsay Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and Nora Crego of Kinmount came to call on me. It was a nice surprise.

On Saturday Murray and Mable Hewitt visited folks at Hyland Crest.

Glad to report Edna Cowan and Mrs. Burgess are improving in health. Jean Taylor had her niece in for a visit on Sunday. Millie Wood had her two daughters in for dinner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron came on Tuesday and took Winnie Barnum out for the day. Doris and Linda took about twelve of us out for lunch Tuesday and then for a drive. It was real nice. Some of the lakes have a lot of ice yet. (Hi Derek). We welcome another new resident, Lillian James.

Till next week.

Gentleness is the gift of the Gods. Nothing is so strong and nothing is so gentle as real strength.

Student art on display

by Leo Dobrzensky
"Young Expressions"

the annual student art show sponsored by the Guild, can be viewed at the Gallery from April 19 to 26. This interesting exhibit offers an excellent opportunity to enjoy the uninhibited creativity of the young. Who knows, you may even discover a budding Picasso or two.

May 21, 1988, the date of the guild's 'Trash to Treasure' sale is fast approaching. Why not take your pre-priced discards to Ed Muenzel, every Thursday from 10-

12. For the next three weeks, Ed will be waiting for you at the Sir Sandford Fleming cottages on Highland Wood Drive in Haliburton.

At the upcoming Guild of Fine Arts summer sale, someone will become the proud owner of a one-man, cedar and canvas canoe. Tickets for this beauty which was crafted during the canoe building class at the Norman Sisco Centre are available at the Gallery. The raffle tickets sell at $2 each or three for $5.

The Museum Committee would appreciate volunteer labour to separate the porch from a Heritage Home. Please contact Stan Hill at 286-3969.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Rose Pringle, Sharon Upton, Milford Moore and J.A. Peacock whose funerals were recently.

The Club 35 euchre party winners on April 11 included: most lone hands Dolly Kelly, high lady Mildred Beatty and high man Clarence Bunker. The door prize went to Cliff Woolner while the others were Clarence Bunker, Kathleen Schmidt and Olive Daniels.

The Horror

The sky is blue
Inside is dark
Black, darkest black
If such can be
For you see
There are hostages
Encased in a tomb
Which is a plane.
Terror, no hope
What will be?
God only knows, but where is God?
Gone to some other place
Where faces shine with serene tranquility
And love?
None of us knows
Only the horror shows
We are the hostages, Innocents caught in the maze
Of uncertainty.
Bleeding for people who Do not want to die
But you and I
Are helpless to act,
Can only cry -
"For the love of God - or Allah
Release them!
Fight your battles if you must
For what you think is just
But do not condemn to death Frightened and confused ordinary people Whose only desire is to love
And live!"

Guide for family services

"Parentwise" is a workshop on how to get the services you need and want for you and your family. The event is scheduled for Tuesday, May 3 at 7:30 p.m. at J.D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton. The workshop is sponsored by "The Child in Everyone.. Productions, and the Haliburton Home and School Association. "Parentwise" will help teach parents skills to work in partnership with service system to meet their children's needs and will describe a practical method for parents to assess their children's strengths and needs.

Nancy Stone and another parent will lead the workshop. As parents, they will share their personal experiences and their battles to get the services their children have needed and have a right to receive from medical, educational and social agencies. Their presentation is based on the philosophy of "service with people not service to people." They believe in a partnership between parents and service providers and the empowerment of parents to play a vital role in the provision of service to their children.

"Parentwise" is made up of parents of children with special needs in Niagara Region. The group represents parents' points of views in on the Niagara Children's Service Committee. The group has recently produced a popular booklet for parents entitled "Parents-wise...Partners in Case Management". This booklet will receive wide distribution to parents across the province.

The workshop is free and open to all parents and interested people. Free child care will be provided.

Goal reached

The 1987 Christmas Seal Campaign officially ended on March 31, having reached the goal of $31,000 set at the beginning of this annual appeal. Residents of Victoria and Haliburton Counties donated $31,112 to the Lung Association for their Christmas Seals.

Members of the Lung Association wish to express their thanks to contributors for their generosity. This money will be used throughout the Counties in a variety of ways. It will finance School Programming, allowing the Lung Association representative to visit schools, speaking to children about making a decision not to smoke. It will support better breathing courses and Countdown, the smoking cessation program. It will allow the association to give financial aid to respiratory patients in need. It will purchase literature for distribution, about a variety of respiratory conditions, such as emphysema, asthma and effects of smoking. And it will support research into these conditions.

Anyone requiring information or help from the Lung Association is invited to call the office at 324-6497.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Choose your sales representative with care prepared by the Haliburton Real Estate

Board

When thinking of selling your property, naturally you want someone who will handle the sale as if it were their own.

If your experience with the selling process is limited, it is highly recommended that you qualify your representative handling the sale.

As the seller, your relationship with the salesperson you choose is important. Meet several salespeople before selecting your representative. Establish their approach to selling and ask in what manner your property will be marketed and how well the salesperson knows the area. Don't feel obliged to give the job of selling your property to the first real estate person who offers to do so.

All conscientious salespeople will want to know every thing of importance with regards to your property. They will ask the reason for selling, time limitations, financial state and future plans. These are details that no representative should ignore if they are to handle the sale efficiently.

An experienced real estate professional does not take for granted that you know all there is about real estate. They should provide you with full details of what to expect. It is important that you know the process of selling so that you are not faced with any surprises.

Once you agree to the services of a real estate broker, that broker's representative will begin by analyzing your house and comparing it to other, similar houses for sale or recently sold in that area. This way they can arrive on the price you should ask for the property as well as any maintenance which will help sell it.

If potential buyers are not coming through your house in droves, don't despair. It only takes one purchaser for your property to be "sold".

The listing agreement you will be asked to sign is an authority to you, as the owner, give to a real estate broker to act as your agent. The agent will offer the property for sale on the terms and conditions set forth in the agreement. A listing agreement in effect establishes an agency relationship between owner and broker.

Listings are either exclusive or multiple.

The exclusive listing gives an agent the sole authority to offer the property for sale during a specific time.

The multiple listing permits the agent to use the facilities of all agents through the Haliburton District Real Estate Boards Multiple Listing Service (MLS). A multiple listing service allows owners trying to sell their property a wider base from which to find a buyer.

The Haliburton District Real Estate Board recommends that if you are considering the sale of your property, be sure that you are knowledgeable about the process and active in the selection of your representative.

W.I. to tackle waste problem

"We've got to get people thinking!" "Where does our garbage go after suitable sites are filled up?" "We're a lazy, wasteful society." "Recycling is the first law of waste management."

Such statements and questions as well as Branch resolutions prompted the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario (FWIO) to select waste management as their project topic for 1988.

To focus on this topic, FWIO has organized a Leadership Development Conference which will be held at Queen's University, Kingston from May 13-15 with the theme "Educate - Initiate".

Attending the Conference will be women from across the province who are interested in increasing their knowledge and abilities.

The objectives of the Conference are two-fold:

- 1) to provide the participants with information about all aspects of waste management so that they are better informed and responsible citizens;
- 2) to provide the participants with the necessary motivation and leadership tools to organize productive projects.

The keynote speaker will be Hon. James Bradley, Ontario Minister of Environment. Other speakers will represent the Recycling Advisory Council, Municipal Government and Rural Organizations Services. Workshops will emphasize the techniques of fund raising, volunteer management, program planning, public relations and speaking with confidence.

The goal of the Women's Institutes is to educate and motivate women across Ontario who will then promote and initiate projects and programs that address the waste management concerns in their communities.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank everyone who sent cards, phoned me and sent flowers and gifts when I was sick. Thanks very much for your thoughtfulness.

Joan Kernohan

Special thanks. On behalf of the Minden Skating Club, I would like to thank the community sponsors of our carnival, the great co-operation of the arena staff, the support I had from my carnival committee and the co-operation from all the parents who helped in any way. The club is very proud of all our skaters and pros. It is great to be able to show off their accomplishments at the end of the season. It was nice of you to give us the hometown support making our carnival a great success. Thanks again.

Linda Schrader
Carnival Chairman

IN MEMORIAM

STEVENSON: In loving memory of our dear niece Lola Bernice who left us April 23, 1986.

Tenderly we treasure the past,
With memories that will always last.
And when we cease to think of you,
Will be when God has called us too.

Always loved and cherished,
Auntie Ev & Uncle Jimmie
